COURSE/CATALOG DESCRIPTION

- Design, execution, analysis and reporting of research in psychology. Lecture and laboratory. This course provides a basic understanding of the research methods used most commonly by social online materials (paying special attention to those that are specifically assigned), gaining confidence with the practice quizzes, and studying on your own if you want to get the highest grade of which you are capable.

- You should be seated and ready to begin listening and discussing at 10 AM when the class begins. If you are late, just enter the back of the room quietly and be seated. Activities at the beginning of the class will not be repeated for late comers. Turn off cell phones during class. If you must engage in

- Take the Post-Test (make sure to include your instructor's e-mail address, so that the test report can be e-mailed to your instructor).

first class week. Failure to complete the plagiarism tutorial will result in ineligibility to earn

control and only if the student has completed at least 3 exams with a passing grade. Under no circumstances will a student be allowed to retake an entire course in order to complete this course.

Not Attending - Failure to do assignments and take quizzes will be reported to the registrar and such non-attendance may affect your financial aid.

Note: Your final grade will be based on the points you earn, not a percentage. Grades are earned, not given, so I do not round. There will be no negotiation about rounding. All grade disputes must first be written and emailed to me. I will not discuss grades without receiving a written description of what you are disputing. All grade disputes must be submitted within 14 days of the final grade.
