

REFERENCES

- Acosta-Martínez, M. (2012). PI3K: an attractive candidate for the central integration of metabolism and reproduction. Front. Endocrinol. 2:110. doi: 10.3389/fendo.2011.00110
- Amstalden, M., Alves, B. R. C., Liu, S., Cardoso, R. C., and Williams, G. L. (2011). Neuroendocrine pathways mediating nutritional acceleration of puberty: insights from ruminant models. Front. Endocrinol. 2:109. doi: 10.3389/fendo.2011.00109
- Bianco, S. D. C. (2012). A potential mechanism for the sexual dimorphism in the onset of puberty and incidence of idiopathic central precocious puberty in children: sex-specific kisspeptin as an integrator of puberty signals. Front. Endocrinol. 3:149. doi: 10.3389/fendo.2012.00149
- Clasadonte, J., Sharif, A., Baroncini, M., and Prevot, V. (2011). Gliotransmission by prostaglandin E2: a prerequisite for GnRH neuronal function? Front. Endocrinol. 2:91. doi: 10.3389/fendo.2011.00091
- Donato, J. Jr., and Elias, C. F. (2011). The ventral premammillary nucleus links metabolic cues and reproduction. Front. Endocrinol. 2:57. doi: 10.3389/fendo.2011.00057
- Klingerman, C. M., Williams, W. P. III, Simberlund, J., Brahme, N., Prasad, A., Schneider, J. E., et al. (2011). Food restriction-induced changes in gonadotropin-inhibiting hormone cells are associated with changes in sexual motivation and food hoarding, but not sexual performance and food intake. Front. Endocrinol. 2:101. doi: 10.3389/fendo.2011.00101
- Schneider, J. E., Klingerman, C. M., and Abdulhay, A. (2012). Sense and non-sense in metabolic control of reproduction. Front. Endocrinol. 3:26. doi: 10.3389/fendo.2012.00026
- Tolson, K. P., and Chappell, P. E. (2012). The changes they are a-timed: metabolism, endogenous clocks, and the timing of puberty. Front. Endocrinol. 3:45. doi: 10.3389/fendo.2012.00045
- True, C., Grove, K. L., and Smith, M. S. (2011). Beyond leptin: emerging candidates for the integration of metabolic and reproductive function during negative energy balance. Front. Endocrinol. 2:53. doi: 10.3389/fendo.2011.00053
- Xu, Y., Faulkner, L. D., and Hill, J. W. (2012). Cross-talk between metabolism and reproduction: the role of POMC and SF1 neurons. Front. Endocrinol. 3:98. doi: 10.3389/fendo.2012.00098